

THE FARM.

Matters of Interest To The Greatest of All Industries.

"A task well begun is half done." Begin well the farm tasks of 1908. Prepare your soil; select your fertilizer; make no mistake about your seeds. There are many things beyond the control of the farmer, rain and drought, frost and cyclones and the markets. It is all the more necessary, therefore, that the things he can do he should do well. Many a well-cultivated crop goes unharmed through a drought that burns up all around it.

TOMATOES.

For raising fine tomatoes in a small but profitable way on land that needs fertilizing the following is suggested: Start the tomato plants in a box in the kitchen or the warmest room in the house. Use 500 pounds of acid phosphate, 200 pounds of muriate of potash and 500 pounds of cotton seed meal. At planting time apply 200 pounds of the above mixture to an acre and repeat this quantity when plants are twelve inches high, not letting the fertilizer touch the plants. The plants should be set five feet apart each way. If plants be staked and pruned the fruit will mature much earlier than when the vines are permitted to spread on the ground. Wheat straw can be put under the vines when they grow at will, to keep the fruit out of the sand. The straw mulching will increase the yield 20 per cent.

COW PEAS PROFITABLE.

Experiments in sowing cowpeas in pecks and half bushels per acre have revealed the fact that these quantities have given larger yields than a bushel of seed. It seems that if cowpeas are thinly seeded the proportion of peas will be greater than when the planting is thick. A smaller quantity of seed yields both more peas and more hay than a larger quantity of seed, therefore the Agriculturalist advises the sowing of a peck and one or two quarts to each acre, but to drill in rows three feet apart so as to give two cultivations.

There are more than a dozen good kinds of peas, but none excels in all the good points. The Whippoorwill may excel in hay but the New Era will give more bushels of peas. One peck of Whippoorwill seed peas will average 1 1/2 bushels of peas, 200 pounds of hay and 1/2 bushel of straw.

About the 15th of May will be a proper time to plant peas in Kentucky. The earlier planted the greater the yield. Wheat or corn planted after a crop of cowpeas will be increased in yield from five to eight bushels. Peas are improvers of the soil, and no wise farmer will omit to have peas on some part of his farm. No fertilizer outside of barnyard manure is necessary for peas.

The peas can be cut in sixty days leaving plenty of time for buckwheat to follow. Japan buckwheat will mature in 75 days and be a profitable crop as the nitrogen left in the soil by the peas will be a great stimulant to the buckwheat.

Roscoe Walter Married.

Mention was made in our last issue of the marriage of Roscoe Walter, a son of M. M. Walter, of Irvine, this county. The following account of the wedding is from the Ashland Independent:

Chattanooga loses another of her attractive daughters by the marriage of Miss Addie Pearl Callihan and Mr. Roscoe Franklin Walter, whose marriage took place this afternoon at 1 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, Capt. and Mrs. Wilbur Callihan. The bridal party presented a beautiful picture. The bride and groom stood facing the minister, Rev. Dr. W. C. Condit of the First Presbyterian Church, of this city, and around them were the handsome bridesmaid, Miss Pearl Walter, a pupil at Jefferies Institute, and the groomsmen, Mr. Andrew Eldredge, of Ashland. The music of honor was Mrs. George G. Baker.

The ceremony was according to the custom now used in Southern families, where the young bride was tutored and educated. It was the two-visit service, and was impressive and beautiful.

The bride who is a very pretty young girl, was an exquisite gown of white pompadour silk.

The bride is the eldest daughter of Captain and Mrs. Callihan and spent her girlhood in the South, having been educated in St. Sophie Normal College, at New Orleans. During her few years' residence at Chattanooga she has been a pronounced social favorite. In addition to a charming personality, she possesses a brightness and vivacity of manner which has won much admiration for her, and made for her warm friends.

Mr. Walter was formerly of this county, where he is held in the highest esteem, but he now holds a lucrative government position in Washington City, where he counts his personal friends by the score.

Following the ceremony, which was witnessed by about one hundred and fifty relatives and friends, there was a beautiful reception. The decorations in the dining room were elaborate and beautiful.

Displayed upstairs were the handsome gifts that came from far and near, showing the high esteem in which the contracting parties are held. They consisted of rare china, rich silver, and sparkling cut glass.

After an extended wedding tour, Mr. and Mrs. Walter will be at their home in Washington, D. C.
